Welcome to the 62nd Conference on Exceptional Children, still the largest and longest-running state education agency-sponsored exceptional children conference in the country. We are so glad you have joined three thousand of your colleagues from across the state for this unique event!

Our theme this year is ‘Building Bridges for Success’ and it is so appropriate in these days of change and challenge. The Common Core Standards offer exciting opportunities and higher expectations; but they also bring the task of preparing students with disabilities to achieve and excel in this new environment. Statewide assessments and accountability models are being redesigned to be reflective of current technologies and skills needed for the 21st Century. Economies continue to struggle at both the local and state level. Political landscapes have changed and continue to do so with this month’s elections. In the midst of all of this, we need to build bridges to provide support and structure necessary for children with disabilities to succeed. As Sir Isaac Newton famously said, “We build too many walls and not enough bridges.” For us, it can mean better instruction for a child to learn to read; greater communication between a teacher, a student and a parent; heightened awareness by an employer or legislator; stronger collaboration between an LEA, the Department of Public Instruction and another agency; or more direct cooperation with a university to prepare teachers or a community college for post-secondary options.

The entire Exceptional Children Division welcomes you and hopes this 62nd Conference on Exceptional Children is a bridge-building opportunity for you. This year’s Conference follows a slightly different order from years past; our informative Institutes are one day only (Wednesday) and the General Conference follows on Thursday and Friday. We have 95 instructional sessions, many of which were selected through our Call for Proposals earlier this year, reflecting excellent practices and insights from across North Carolina and the country. The Plenary Session features inspiring contributions from North Carolina students and teachers and a compelling keynote presentation from Haben Girma, a student with deaf-blindness who currently attends Harvard Law School and advocates for the civil rights of individuals with disabilities. Our annual Teachers of Excellence reception (to which you are warmly invited!) on Thursday evening honors special education professionals from across this great state. The now-annual School-Based Enterprises Bazaar is all day Thursday and gives you an opportunity to peruse and shop from entrepreneurial student-run programs in North Carolina Public Schools. Poster sessions give you time to discuss innovative and effective initiatives with their representatives. Finally, our Vendors/Exhibitors area on the third floor both Thursday and Friday will offer you plenty of great resources to consider for your schools and students. Through all these offerings, the Exceptional Children Division hopes you have a fulfilling conference experience with learning, networking and true bridge-building for your personal growth and that of your students.

Welcome again to Greensboro for your Conference on Exceptional Children. Learn, laugh, have fun, and be inspired and renewed! The staff of the Exceptional Children Division looks forward to meeting, greeting and serving you this week.

PRE-CONFERENCE INSTITUTES REGISTRATION
Registration for Pre-Conference Institutes will be open from 5:30 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday and from 7:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. on Wednesday. The registration desk is located on the first floor of the Koury Convention Center near the Food Court.

CONFERENCE REGISTRATION
Registration is open from 5:30 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday, from 7:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. on Thursday, and from 7:30 until 10:00 a.m. on Friday. The registration desk is located on the first floor of the Koury Convention Center near the Food Court.

LICENSURE RENEWAL CREDIT
One unit of licensure renewal credit is offered to conference participants who attend ten hours of conference activities. To qualify, participants must attend the Plenary Session, four regular instructional sessions, and the Exhibitor Connections. After participants have completed and submitted an online evaluation form they will be able to print a licensure renewal credit certificate. A separate licensure renewal credit certificate can be printed by those who attend a Pre-Conference Institute and complete an online evaluation for the institute.

ELECTRONIC DEVICES
As a courtesy to your fellow conference attendees and to the presenters, please silence electronic devices while you are attending Pre-Conference Institutes, the Plenary Session, and conference sessions.

CECAS HELP DESK
Please drop by the Tidewater room with any questions you may have regarding CECAS. Review records, answer questions, check out what’s new. Drop in or stop by to make an appointment. Hours: Thursday 1:00 p.m. – 4:30 p.m., Friday 8:30 a.m. – 12:15 p.m.

INTERNET ACCESS: LOG ON / LOG OFF
Wireless internet is available throughout the hotel to download institute and session materials. Due to broadband width and the number of conference participants, you are asked to download those session materials you need and then log off, so that others may have access to the internet as well. Remaining connected to the internet will prevent others from having access. If you are a hotel guest here, use your login provided at check in. If you are not staying at the Sheraton Greensboro Hotel Four Seasons, please use the Group Code: EC2012 and Password: 2012EC Remember, LOG ON, then LOG OFF!

CEC MEETING
The North Carolina Council for Exceptional Children will have a general meeting from 11:30 a.m. – 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, November 15, in the Tanglewood Meeting Room. Please bring your box lunch and join us.

NURSING MOTHERS
The Riverdale room (third floor near escalators) will be available during the Institutes and the General Conference as a room for nursing mothers. If you need access to this room, please speak with someone at the registration desk or with an “Ask Me” tag.
SPECIAL THANKS TO:

Keynote Speaker ................................................ Haben Girma

  Harvard Law School, Cambridge, MA

Keynote: Exceptional Teachers Make Exceptional Students
Originally from San Francisco, Haben currently lives in Massachusetts where she attends Harvard Law School. Haben has worked zealously to promote equal opportunities for Americans with disabilities, beginning with her leadership in the National Association of Blind Students. In 2009, her work as an advocate took her to Costa Rica where she served as a U.S. delegate for Mobility International’s U.S./Costa Rica Disability Rights and Leadership Exchange. In the summer of 2010, she joined Deaf-Blind Young Adults in Action in Washington, DC, to meet with Members of Congress and their staff to promote policies affecting deaf-blind persons. Haben strongly believes that when schools provide students with trained special education teachers, even students with severe disabilities can succeed. Haben’s success as a deaf-blind law student is a direct result of the exceptional support she received from special education teachers.

Announcements and Closing ................................. Mary N. Watson

Lunch ............... To facilitate an efficient box lunch distribution, please exit through door C (stage left).

Please plan to visit and support the School-Based Enterprises Bazaar. All of the products being displayed and sold were designed, created and marketed by students with disabilities in local schools across North Carolina. School-based enterprises are designed to provide students an opportunity to apply and generalize academic skills they have learned in the classroom to the real world. All purchases made support the continuation and enhancement of the individual school programs. The bazaar provides a great opportunity to stock up on those special handmade holiday gifts for family, friends and co-workers.

The Exceptional Children Division annually honors teachers, related services providers, and school psychologists who have made significant contributions to the education of children with disabilities with the Teachers of Excellence Awards. All persons being honored Thursday night were nominated by their LEAs including charter schools and state-operated programs because of their innovative instructional techniques and commitment to meeting the needs of all children.

Ms. Leslie Fetzer is this year’s speaker for the Teachers of Excellence Awards Ceremony. Leslie, a North Carolina Virtual Public School (NCVPS) biology teacher, was named America’s 2012 “National Online Teacher of the Year” for K-12 education by the Southern Regional Education Board (SREB) and the International Association for K-12 Online Learning (iNACOL). This award recognizes an outstanding online teacher for exceptional contributions to online K-12 education. Leslie was selected from among online educators in public schools and state virtual schools in 26 states. In this role, Leslie represents online teachers at speaking appearances and during the iNACOL Annual Meeting. She is featured on the SREB and iNACOL websites. Leslie is also the 2011 NCVPS Teacher of the Year.

Leslie started her career in the pharmaceutical industry as a medical writer before she realized she had missed her calling and became a teacher. Her first teaching job was as a chemistry, biology, and forensic science teacher for the Bolivar-Richburg Central School in Bolivar, NY. She moved to North Carolina in 2007 and taught chemistry and biology for Holly Springs High School (Wake County Public Schools). In 2009, Leslie joined NCVPS as a credit recovery teacher, and has been a teacher and instructional leader for the Occupational Course of Study Blended Learning Program since it began in 2010.

A former classroom teacher, Leslie noted that teaching online is not what most people envision. “When I was given the opportunity to teach online, I jumped at the chance,” she said. “To really teach a student, you need to reach them on a personal level. Teaching online allows me to personalize instruction for every one of my students. I can use images, word analogies, create a cartoon or animation, record a live lesson, or add audio to help them remember.” Almost daily, she said, “I get to witness students having ‘light bulb’ moments. This growth is so exciting.”

According to State Board of Education Chairman Bill Harrison, “Much has changed about how, when and where students learn so online education plays a critical role in our public schools today. North Carolina is fortunate to have Leslie and other teachers like her working to make a difference for students in the state’s virtual classrooms.”

Plan to attend the Exceptional Children Division’s Teachers of Excellence Awards Ceremony. Celebrate with the recipients and welcome Leslie as she provides words of inspiration and encouragement.

ALL conference participants are invited to attend at no additional cost. Casual attire – come as you are!

AUTISM INSTITUTE

TITLE: Here It Is: Use of Core Vocabulary to Support Nonverbal Students with Autism

LOCATION: Guilford E

SPEAKER: Penny Hatch, PhD, CCC-SLP

The session will focus on the use of core vocabulary words and/or symbols to support the communication of nonverbal students with autism. The term, core vocabulary, refers to a limited set of frequently used words that apply across a variety of contexts. Core vocabularies tend to be comprised of pronouns, verbs, and prepositions (e.g., the words here, it, is) because these are flexible words that can be used more often than specific nouns. This session will highlight the value of using a small and consistently available vocabulary to promote a variety of communication functions and to foster interaction.

BEHAVIOR INSTITUTE

TITLE: Mindful Practices: How Using Innovative Relaxation Strategies Will Cool Down Your Classroom

LOCATION: Victoria BC

SPEAKER: Carla Tantillo

This institute will show classroom teachers as well as Behavioral Support Specialists/Liaisons strategies on how using yoga, health, and wellness strategies will help teach students how to keep their cool. Participants will be provided the necessary tools to effectively help students cool down, relax, and focus. It will also provide strategies that will help them recognize and mindfully address their internal and external stressors, thus encouraging higher productivity and a more focused classroom.

CECAS INSTITUTE

TITLE: CECAS Contacts Institute

LOCATION: Imperial D

SPEAKER: EC Delivery Team

The CECAS Contacts Institute is intended for the lead CECAS administrator from each LEA/Charter/State Operated Program. Participants will gain insight and learn to avoid common mistakes in documenting out of state transfers, Indicator 11, Indicator 7, and other periodic Child Counts. Advanced training will be provided in the use of the analytics tool. Participants will preview new features to be added to CECAS soon, and will have opportunities for discussion, questions, and suggestions with the fellow participants, DPI CECAS staff, and the CECAS vendor.

DEAF-BLIND INSTITUTE

TITLE: Using the Extended Content Standards to Teach Prelinguistic Communication

LOCATION: Augusta

SPEAKER: Dr. Susan Bashinski

Long before children learn language, they communicate with gestures, vocalizations, facial expressions, and body language. This is known as prelinguistic (prior to language) communication. Most children learn this type of communication without formal teaching, but children who are deaf-blind may need guidance to learn it. Come to the Deaf-Blind Institute and learn how to teach prelinguistic communication and use the Extended Content Standards to provide repetition with variety.
EC PRESCHOOL INSTITUTE

TITLE: Inclusive Classroom Profile: Measuring the Quality of Inclusion in an Era of Accountability

LOCATION: Blue Ashe

SPEAKER: Dr. Elena Soukakou

This presentation will provide information about a new tool, the Inclusive Classroom Profile (ICP), and promising directions for using the ICP to address the quality of inclusion within a Quality Rating and Improvement System (QRIS: NC’s five star rating system). The ICP is used to assess the quality of inclusion in early childhood classrooms across twelve dimensions of inclusive practices. Information from a pilot study in North Carolina will be shared. Participants will have the opportunity to discuss how the information obtained from using the ICP can be used for quality assessment, professional development, and research. Additional information will be provided about developing inclusive programs in your LEA and community.

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY INSTITUTE

TITLE: Assistive Technology, iDevices, and OT

LOCATION: Guilford F

SPEAKER: Jim Tignor, MSOT, OTR/L, ATP

How do occupational therapy practitioners own their role as Assistive Technology guides in the school setting? We will discuss pragmatic concerns regarding documenting, assessing need, and providing instruction/training and follow-up. We will also explore the latest trends in technology, including the pros and cons of such interventions, and take a close look at the use of iDevices for students with disabilities.

PHYSICAL THERAPY INSTITUTE

TITLE: Therapists and Transportation: A Team Working Together

LOCATION: Guilford D

SPEAKER: Jean M. Zimmerman, PT

School begins the minute the student is picked up in the morning on the school bus. This presentation is intended for EC transportation personnel and physical therapists. It will address best practices in transporting students with special needs, including:

- loading procedures, whether walking up the steps or being loaded by lift in a wheelchair,
- wheelchair positioning & postural supports needed for safe transportation,
- transporting preschool children and the safety equipment they need, and
- bus evacuation for all students.

Time will be allotted for questions, answers, and discussion.
SPEECH LANGUAGE PATHOLOGY INSTITUTE

TITLE: (1) Telepractice: A Viable Service Delivery Model in Schools
(2) Using The “Little Room” to Foster Audition and Communication Development
(3) The Wonderful World of Vocabulary Words, Rich with Meaning

LOCATION: Guilford G

SPEAKER: (1) Colette Edwards & Sena Crutchley
(2) Wanda Pendergrass & Melissa Brown
(3) Becky Taylor

(1) The purpose of the presentation is to educate professionals about the viability of this service delivery model and the training needed to have a successful and effective program, with emphasis on the crucial necessity for collaboration between the SLP, paraprofessional, teachers, principal, EC director, and parents. The session will include a PowerPoint and handout with references and information about the history of telepractice, the training required, recommended equipment, the roles of the professionals involved, the success and challenges encountered in different school settings, and implications for the future.

(2) This session will introduce participants to the “Little Room” concept and show how the use of this strategy can assist in the development of listening, communication and visual skills for children who have multiple developmental challenges.

(3) This session provides participants with research, resources, and instructional ideas for supporting students in the acquisition of meaningful vocabulary. It will address assessment, progress monitoring, and focus on both social and content vocabulary related to the Common Core Standards.

VISUAL IMPAIRMENT INSTITUTE

TITLE: Teaching Mathematics to Students with a Visual Impairment: Early Childhood through 6th Grade

LOCATION: Grandover East-West

SPEAKER: Susan Osterhaus, MS

Math instruction is critical for all students, but especially for students with visual impairments. This special presentation will be helpful to anyone involved in math instruction with pre-K and elementary visually impaired students. Attendees will be able to identify some of the challenges that the visually impaired student faces in the general elementary mathematics classroom. Attendees will have greater familiarity with a variety of accessible materials, tools and technology, which will allow their students to learn basic math concepts. Attendees will have increased experience in problem solving on how to use these materials, tools, and technology in accessing the general math curriculum and preparing for standardized tests.

1. So, This Is Your First EC Conference?

ROOM: Auditorium III

PRESENTER(S): Tom Winton, Exceptional Children Division, NCDPI

This session is for any attendees who are attending the Conference on Exceptional Children for the first time. The presenter will offer an overview of the conference, previews of the Plenary Session and instructional sessions, tips on navigating the Koury Convention Center, and more. This is a great way to start the day.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Basic

2. The Power of Play

ROOM: Cedar

PRESENTER(S): Lucia Quinonez-Sumner and Wendy Pendergrass, North Carolina Early Intervention Program for Children Who Are Deaf/Hard of Hearing

Participants will explore common themes of play and how play positively impacts the development of young children with hearing loss and other exceptionalities. Participants will be actively involved in demonstration of use of rhymes, games, and songs (in both English and Spanish) to support various skills within developmental domains. The target audience for this session includes early child development professionals, teachers, and parents of exceptional children.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

3. Using the iPad to Support IEPs for Students with Significant Disabilities

ROOM: Auditorium IV

PRESENTER(S): Angela Fitzwater, Cabarrus County Schools

This session is intended for educators who have an interest in utilizing the iPad with low-incidence populations. Demonstrations will be provided to address ways the iPad can be used for instructional purposes to support the adapted curriculum as well as functional or academic IEP goals. Participants will learn about the accessibility benefits and options of the iPad and how these can be used to encourage participation and communication.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Intermediate

4. Effects of Repeated Reading and Video Self-Modeling on Fluency

ROOM: Guilford F

PRESENTER(S): Jeremy Lopuch and Lindsay Flynn, UNC Charlotte

The purpose of this session is to present to teachers and related service providers the findings of a research study evaluating the effects of a repeated reading combined with video self-modeling (VSM) intervention. Session participants will learn how to assemble and employ VSM with students who have difficulty with reading fluency. Audience members will also receive a step-by-step checklist to ensure fidelity.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

5. Data Notebooks Are for EC Teachers – Follow up to 2011 Conference Session

ROOM: Grandover West

PRESENTER(S): Beth Berry and Susan Hollar, Catawba County Schools

Data notebooks encourage students to develop 21st Century skills by taking control of their learning and help the teacher to become the facilitator of learning. They are a journey not a destination and help students see where they are, where they are going, and how they are going to get there. The use of data notebooks gives students the opportunity to track their progress through graphs, rubrics, charts, and provides an excellent source for documentation of IEP goals. (NOTE: This is a follow-up to a session presented at the 61st Conference in November 2011.)

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All
6. Medicaid Updates

ROOM: Guilford G

PRESENTER(S): Lauren Holahan and Laurie Ray, Exceptional Children Division, NCDPI

The focus of this session is to answer participant questions and provide the most current information on Medicaid policy, procedures, and best practice.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

---

7. A Daily Lesson Plan for a Social Skills Curriculum

ROOM: Guilford E

PRESENTER(S): Christa Joy, Johnston County Schools

This session will help participants gain skills to better identify and effectively group students with social skills deficits. Participants will also be given tools to better differentiate commonly addressed social skills topics as well as write effective IEP goals on social skills. Strategies will be shared on how to organize information into an effective daily lesson plan format. Participants are encouraged to bring a flash drive to download ready-made lesson plans.

8. Stop the Insanity! Classroom Empowerment That Really Works

ROOM: Auditorium II

PRESENTER(S): Jennifer Savage, Durham Public Schools

More time to teach, please! Learn to diffuse discipline problems before they become an instructional disruption in your classroom. Discover how a simple teaching technique can refocus the energies of a student with challenges, integrating them back into the classroom so instruction can continue. You will leave this session knowing you will have more time to teach!

ROOM: Grandover East

PRESENTER(S): Holly Teagle, UNC Chapel Hill

This presentation will provide information on current cochlear implant candidacy criteria and the evaluation process at UNC as well as an update on the technology now being used. The UNC team approach to patient management will be described and general outcome data will be reported.

10. The Movement and Learning Connection

ROOM: Blue Ash

PRESENTER(S): Valerie Rush, Lincoln County Schools and Carrie Morgan, Cabarrus County Schools

This presentation presents movement as a foundation for learning, with a review of neuroscience and research. Participants will identify multiple benefits of movement in the classroom, ways to incorporate movement, and valuable resources.

11. It is Time to Be Bully Free! An Anti-Bullying Presentation for School Educators (Abridged)

ROOM: Guilford D

PRESENTER(S): Richard Spurling, Mitchell County Schools and Jan Sypnieski, Boston, MA

Nationally-known author Dr. Richard Spurling will present information about the Bully-Free philosophy, including the trauma of bullying and responsibility professionals have in eliminating this behavior. Participants will leave with the research-based tools to provide a comprehensive bully-free program in their schools. NOTE: An expanded version of this session will be held at Session #25 on Thursday afternoon. It is not necessary to attend one to benefit from the other.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All
12. Special Education 101 – Lessons from Due Process Hearings

ROOM: Victoria A

PRESENTER(S): Butch Elkins, North Carolina Office of Administrative Hearings, Raleigh, Stacey Bawtinheimer, Ayden, NC and Carolyn Waller, Tharrington Smith, LLP, Raleigh

A panel composed of an administrative law judge, an attorney who represents parents, and an attorney who represents LEAs will share lessons from the courtroom and tips to help avoid due process hearings.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Intermediate, Advanced

ROOM: Guilford D

PRESENTER(S): Gail Rodin, Fuquay-Varina, NC

The presenter will discuss various testing instruments, the information they provide, and how to analyze the information in the psychological report to determine eligibility for ADHD or a Specific Learning Disability (this content will be repeated at Session #34).

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

14. It’s All About Communication: Parents and Schools Working Together

ROOM: Auditorium II

PRESENTER(S): Dody Lucarini, Exceptional Children’s Assistance Center

Learn more about the elements of effective communication, the power of record keeping, letter writing, and documentation. Keep communication between home and school on the right track. Don’t wait until you have a disagreement to begin using effective communication skills.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

15. Exceptional Children, Exceptional Teachers: Best Practices for EC Support Staff

ROOM: Biltmore

PRESENTER(S): Betsy Rosenbalm & Jennifer Lingerfelt, Newton-Conover City Schools

This session will focus on research-based approaches that may be used by administrators and EC support staff to increase staff morale and positive working conditions for EC staff in the school environment. The presenters will address key issues EC staff members face in the general education and special education settings. Processes, procedures, and theories will be presented to increase productivity and collaboration in the school environment.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

16. The Serious Work of Observing Children’s Play

ROOM: Grandover West

PRESENTER(S): Janet Sockwell and Maureen Kaniuka, Craven County Schools

This session will offer a brief overview of Transdisciplinary Play-Based Assessment, with a focus on truly objective observation skills and written products and the use of observations to look at differentiating between different levels of play. This is a great way to deepen educators’ understanding of terminology and development from the perspective of play.

22. Adapted Physical Education

ROOM: Oak

PRESENTER(S): Ann Hughes, New Hanover County Schools, and Barbara Melaney, Durham Public Schools

This session will provide the participant with the nuts and bolts of Adapted Physical Education (APE), including eligibility, assessment/evaluation process, IEP documentation, continuum of service delivery, qualified personnel, progress monitoring, and exit among other relevant topics and issues. Participants will be provided examples of how APE can be provided while an LEA is in the process of hiring an APE specialist. A substantial portion of the allotted time will be spent in discussion and answering participant questions.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Basic

23. Reading Disabilities: Impacts and Interventions

ROOM: Imperial FG

PRESENTER(S): LuAnn Jordan, UNC Charlotte, and Tara Galloway, Belmont Abbey College

Participants will learn about indicators of a reading disability and the impact on student achievement. Participants will also learn about interventions for various types of reading disabilities. This session is intended for general and special education teachers who work with students with reading disabilities in elementary and secondary schools.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

24. Navigating Change Through PBIS: Northern Nash High School

ROOM: Grandover East

PRESENTER(S): Rhonda Reid and Mary Jones, Nash-Rocky Mount Schools

Come learn about implementing Positive Behavior Intervention & Support (PBIS) from a high school that is currently implementing with success. Gain insight from a school system PBIS coordinator on strategies that work!

26. What Does It Take to Be A 21st Century Culturally Responsive Practitioner?

ROOM: Auditorium III

PRESENTER(S): Theodore Pikes, North Carolina Central University

The presenter will illustrate a plan of action for transforming practices to address 21st Century K-12 students, specifically those with disabilities and/or culturally and linguistically diverse learners. The session will present an innovative approach for the transformation of teaching education practices that embraces the notions that: culture is central to student learning; culturally responsive teaching practices empower practitioners by using cultural referents to impact knowledge, skills, and attitudes for affirming diversity; and practitioners must be prepared to be agents of change with the capabilities to transform social justice and educational inequities that may be detrimental to the learning of all students.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

27. Supporting a Learner with Deaf-Blindness in a Special Education Resource Classroom

ROOM: Imperial E

PRESENTER(S): Susan Bashinski, East Carolina University, and Jennifer Zimmer, Iredell-Statesville Schools

A bit of anxiety usually accompanies the announcement that a new learner with deaf-blindness will be enrolled in a special education teacher’s classroom. This session will summarize one classroom teacher's experience with adapting classroom materials, schedules, and instruction to support a learner who is deaf-blind and the benefits all learners in her classroom derived from the adaptations. The session will also highlight available assistance to teachers through the East Carolina University Teacher Support program and the NCDPI Deaf-Blind Project.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Intermediate

28. Closing the Gap: Working With Spanish Speaking Families

ROOM: Imperial H

PRESENTER(S): Lucia Quinonez-Sumner and Kathryn Bennight, North Carolina Early Intervention Program for Children Who Are Deaf/Hard of Hearing, NCDPI

Learning Spanish or adding an interpreter to meetings is not enough to ensure effective service delivery to Spanish-speaking families. Closing the Gap looks at the cultural differences and how they can impact both a family’s understanding of their child’s special needs as well as their understanding of services being delivered. Educators becoming more culturally competent can have a huge impact on child outcomes.

ROOM: Guilford E

PRESENTER(S): Joani Richardson, Morganton, NC

Do you ever feel overwhelmed, unsure where to start or what to do next with your student with Autism? This session can help. For those new to the world of Autism, it will include a brief overview of the core deficits of Autism Spectrum Disorder. However, the primary focus will be on evidence-based practical applications to manage and be effective in real school-based circumstances. An intervention hierarchy, decision making strategies and a guide for success will be offered to provide direction when addressing academic, social and/or behavioral performance.

30. Houston, We Have a Math Problem!

ROOM: Victoria BC
PRESENTER(S): Ronda Layman, Rockingham County Schools
This session is a preview to the Foundations of Math for Students with Significant Cognitive Disabilities, part of the NCDPI Exceptional Children Division’s ACT Project. Teaching math is more than teaching procedure; it’s teaching the concepts. Making math part of everyday instruction makes this subject easier to teach. Participants will learn strategies to teach students math as related to the Extended Content Standards based on the Common Core Standards.
PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

31. Treatment Integrity from Research to Application and Practice

ROOM: Pebble Beach
PRESENTER(S): Jim Deni, Appalachian State University, and Deana Dimick, Rockingham County Schools
As Responsiveness to Instruction (RtI) is implemented across the U.S., there can be no more important concept based on the current research than Treatment Integrity (TI) and the need for training teachers and school psychologists. Participants will be provided with examples of current TI measures being used and the pros and cons of each. Also, using TI rubrics, they will learn how to create a TI protocol for a specific evidenced-based intervention, and web-based resources to assist in developing their own TI measures (this content will be repeated in Session #52).
PRESENTATION LEVEL: Intermediate

32. Testing and Accountability Focused on Student Achievement and Success

ROOM: Auditorium I
PRESENTER(S): Tammy Howard, Accountability Services, NCDPI
North Carolina is implementing new assessments in English language arts, mathematics, and science as well as a new accountability model this year. Information on the new item types, the transition to online delivery, the READY accountability model design, and the Elementary and Secondary Education Act requirements will be discussed. Also included will be an overview of the transition to the SMARTER Balanced Consortium’s Assessments, slated for 2014-15.
PRESENTATION LEVEL: All
33. 75 Tips in 90 Minutes

ROOM: Victoria A

PRESENTER(S): Julie Weatherly, Mobile, AL

This fast-paced session will provide participants with 75 practical tips on all things legal, from A to Z, in the field of special education. Topics covered will include child-find/identification, evaluation, eligibility, IEP/placement, procedural safeguards, discipline, extended school year, transition, related services, and Section 504.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Advanced

34. Digging for Gold: Testing, Interpreting and Identifying for Specific Learning Disability and Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder

ROOM: Guilford D

PRESENTER(S): Gail Rodin, Fuquay-Varina, NC

The presenter will discuss various testing instruments, the information they provide, and how to analyze the information in the psychological report to determine eligibility for ADHD or a Specific Learning Disability (this content is a repeat of Session #13).

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

35. Becoming Your Child’s Best and Most Effective Advocate

ROOM: Auditorium II

PRESENTER(S): Karyn Montague, Exceptional Children’s Assistance Center

Being an effective advocate is one of the best things you can do to support your child in all areas of his/her life including education and the IEP process. Learn the skills needed to become your child’s best advocate and how you can use those skills to actively participate in your child’s education.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

36. Secondary Transition Planning Amid the Common Core Standards

ROOM: Biltmore

PRESENTER(S): Jennifer Cease-Cook, National Secondary Transition Technical Assistance Center, UNC Charlotte

This session will overview national issues regarding college and career readiness, including implementing the Common Core State Standards and related assessment systems. Presenters will share resources available from National Secondary Transition Technical Assistance Center and other national centers on this topic. Participants will work through a process for embedding transition-focused competencies within the academic standards for all students.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Intermediate

37. Family-School Partnership in Preschool

ROOM: Grandover West

PRESENTER(S): Suzanne Cotterman and Jeffrey Broyles, Wake County Public Schools

This session will offer details about how to engage families in their preschool child’s education, and build relationships between the families and school system. We will discuss how we promote, engage, and train our teachers and schools to engage families in activities, trainings, and dialogues that enhance their child’s education goals and promote understanding of their child’s IEP.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All
38. Educating All Students: North Carolina Virtual Public School’s Commitment to Student Learning

ROOM: Auditorium IV
PRESENTER(S): Michelle Lourcey, Sherry Bell, and Leslie Fetzer, North Carolina Virtual Public School

North Carolina Virtual Public School (NCVPS) is committed to meeting the needs of all learners, from the student with disabilities to the student who needs to recover a credit to the student who needs a course for the first time. This session will show how NCVPS focuses its courses and instruction on teaching all students and the way they learn.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

40. Teaching Math in the Age of the Common Core

ROOM: Guilford F
PRESENTER(S): Valerie Faulkner, North Carolina State University

Increasingly, special educators are asked to support students with mathematics that is rigorous and connected to the new Common Core State Standards. This requires a new perspective and deeper understanding of the mathematics. This session will be a lively K-16 introduction to understanding the ways you can support your students in mathematics in the age of the Common Core.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

39. What Was the Question? Differentiating Questioning for Students with Disabilities

ROOM: Cedar
PRESENTER(S): Elizabeth Mitcham & Dawn Farrington, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools

The session focuses on the use of question extensions, scaffolding, instructional strategies, and implementation for allowing students with disabilities to answer questions posed in the classroom or provide a way to demonstrate their understanding of the content in an alternate method. The methods presented can be used as IEP accommodations, RtI practices, ways to assess students or ways to differentiate in a classroom with varying abilities.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

41. A Model for School and District Literacy Planning

ROOM: Guilford G
PRESENTER(S): Joan Sedita, Rowley, MA

This session will present an overview of a model for developing a school or district level plan for tiered literacy instruction. It will describe and provide planning materials for eight planning components. Suggestions will be provided for how to set up a literacy planning team that is representative of the major stakeholders who will be responsible for its implementation, how to conduct a self-assessment of existing literacy instruction practices, and how to develop goals and action steps related to the eight components.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All
42. Co-Teaching in the Content Areas: Battlefield or Sanctuary?

ROOM: Blue Ash

PRESENTER(S): Kelly Charles and Virginia Dickens, Fayetteville State University

The research-based best practices for providing “specially designed instruction” along with the requirements and challenges of providing co-teaching services in the secondary content setting will be examined. Participants will evaluate Web 2.0 based technology applications to promote teacher collaboration and communication.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Intermediate

43. Problem-Solving for Inclusion in Physical Education

ROOM: Oak

PRESENTER(S): Kaky McPeak, Wake County Public Schools, and Bob Beaudet, Western Carolina University

Often questions arise regarding how to serve students with disabilities in physical education (PE) class. An expert panel will answer questions about PE, adapted physical education (APE), least restrictive environment, and best practices for students with disabilities. They will also offer disability-specific suggestions, curricular and equipment ideas, and thoughts on IEP development and inclusion. This session is geared toward special educators, PE/APE teachers, administrators, parents, related service providers, and teacher assistants.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

44. Learning Disabilities: The Basics and Practical Applications

ROOM: Imperial FG

PRESENTER(S): Meredith Miller, Orange Charter School, Hillsborough, NC

This session will cover the basics of learning disabilities and dyslexia, including causes, characteristics, and effects. Participants will also learn practical strategies that support students with learning disabilities across the school day.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Basic

45. PBIS Tier 2 Implementation

ROOM: Grandover East

PRESENTER(S): Molly Houchard and Leann Beam, Yancey County Schools

Presenters at this session will review PBIS Tier 2 implementation and intervention strategies for a small group setting for at-risk students. Participants will explore implementation strategies from a North Carolina PBIS Exemplar school.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

46. Classroom Management that Builds Positive Relationships

ROOM: Augusta

PRESENTER(S): Olavee Williams, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools

Good classroom management helps to build positive relationships and yield academic success for students. Participants will learn tips and strategies for putting a classroom management plan in place. Participants will learn how to implement a plan that will yield positive results. Consistency is the key! Participants will find that when a good plan is in place, it builds positive relationships.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All
47. Implementation of Culturally Responsive Practices

ROOM: Auditorium III

PRESENTER(S): Debra Medlin and Sonya Smith, Person County Schools

The purpose of this presentation is to discuss the implementation of culturally responsive practices as a means to reduce the discipline gap. Participants will be able to define and identify specific culturally responsive practices. Participants will also gain an understanding of cultural competency and analyze how one’s ethnocentrism affects perceptions and interactions with students.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Basic

48. Communication First!

ROOM: Imperial E

PRESENTER(S): Betsy Cordle and Laura Lewis, Wake County Public Schools

In this presentation, presenters will reiterate the ingredients needed to support successful communication and language instruction in the classroom. Using case studies and video as well as group discussion, they will discuss ways to use a variety of communication approaches with students with complex communication needs. They will discuss how to work with the school team to determine the best system and implementation strategies for the student.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

49. Long Range Plans for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing Population

ROOM: Imperial H

PRESENTER(S): Christina Armfield and Bill Hussey, Alamance-Burlington School System

This presentation will offer a comprehensive overview of how one school system has changed its service delivery with the Deaf and Hard of Hearing population and the positive implications. Presenters will explain what a long range plan is and how to initiate the process with discussions about assessments, implementation, data collection, and incorporating the Common Core Standards. Data collected over the last two years will be presented to show the success of this process, along with available resources to assist in creating and implementing the plans.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All

50. Social Thinking®: An Integrated Approach

ROOM: Guilford E

PRESENTER(S): Barbara Linnville and Ashley Harkey, Watauga County Schools

Participants will be engaged in the concept of Social Thinking® and how to integrate it into small groups, general education, and special instructional areas in elementary and middle schools using Superflex/Social Thinking® curriculum. Those who work with students with autism spectrum disorders, ADHD, and behavioral challenges would benefit from this workshop.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: All
51. Implementing the Bridge: An Informal Assessment Tool for Emergent Literacy

ROOM: Victoria BC

PRESENTER(S): Katherine Townson, Alamance-Burlington School System

This session is for teachers of students with low incidence disabilities. The use of informal assessment for emergent literacy skills will be discussed with an overview of The Bridge protocol provided. Teachers will become further empowered in utilizing data to drive instruction for students with moderate to severe disabilities.

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Basic

52. Treatment Integrity from Research to Application and Practice

ROOM: Pebble Beach

PRESENTER(S): Jim Deni, Appalachian State University, and Deana Dimick, Rockingham County Schools

As RtI is implemented across the U.S., there can be no more important concept based on the current research than Treatment Integrity (TI) and the need for training teachers and school psychologists. Participants will be provided with examples of current TI measures being used and the pros and cons of each. Also, using TI rubrics, they will learn how to create a TI protocol for a specific evidenced-based intervention, and web-based resources to assist in developing their own TI measures (this content is a repeat of Session #31).

PRESENTATION LEVEL: Intermediate

53. READY for Success: Instructional Improvement System

ROOM: Auditorium I

PRESENTER(S): Sarah McManus, Learning Systems, NCDPI

North Carolina is developing an Instructional Improvement System (IIS) under the Race to the Top initiative, Career and College: Ready, Set, Go! This session will provide an overview of the IIS vision and components. Participants will be introduced to a comprehensive system that manages the process of teaching and learning through a continuous improvement cycle of curriculum design, instructional delivery, assessment at all levels, and the review and analysis of data.

54. Bullying and Disability Harassment and Other Current Legal Topics in Special Education (Part 1 of 2)
ROOM: Victoria ABC
PRESENTER(S): Julie Weatherly, Mobile, AL
It’s not just bullying anymore! While this session will highlight other hot legal topics, it will focus primarily on bullying and harassment of students with disabilities. The Office of Civil Rights’ current position on disability harassment will be thoroughly examined, so it may be properly considered by school personnel to develop and implement compliant procedures and policies to address bullying of students with disabilities, going beyond any local or state bullying requirements that might exist. Also, this session will highlight what courts are saying when addressing allegations of the school district’s responsibility to a student with a disability who has been subjected to bullying at school. (Part 1 of 2)
PRESENTATION LEVEL: Advanced

55. Using Transition Assessment Data to Develop Meaningful Transition-Focused IEPs
ROOM: Guilford D
PRESENTER(S): Jennifer Cease-Cook, National Secondary Transition Technical Assistance Center, UNC Charlotte
This session will overview various types of transition assessments and the transition assessment process. Participants will practice considering transition assessment results and translating them into postsecondary goals and transition goals and services.
